Trace Aureity

Trace Aureity – a small island covered with musical immersive sculptures.

1) Arahata, The Mute Swan.

Making eerie sounds on touch.

If a sound was already playing when we were born, played throughout our life, and continued playing after we were gone, would we hear it?

Canescent Interval

An interactive audiovisual sculpture.
Walk around and through the sculpture,
make small movements in and around it,

try also jumping and floating in it.
It's like a sonic bath for eyes and ears,
if you are weary, it will revive.

Infra Assemblage

Click on the yellow ball above the sculpture to make balls drop out.

As the balls hit the tines of the sculpture, the tines sound.
Each tine has a different sound.

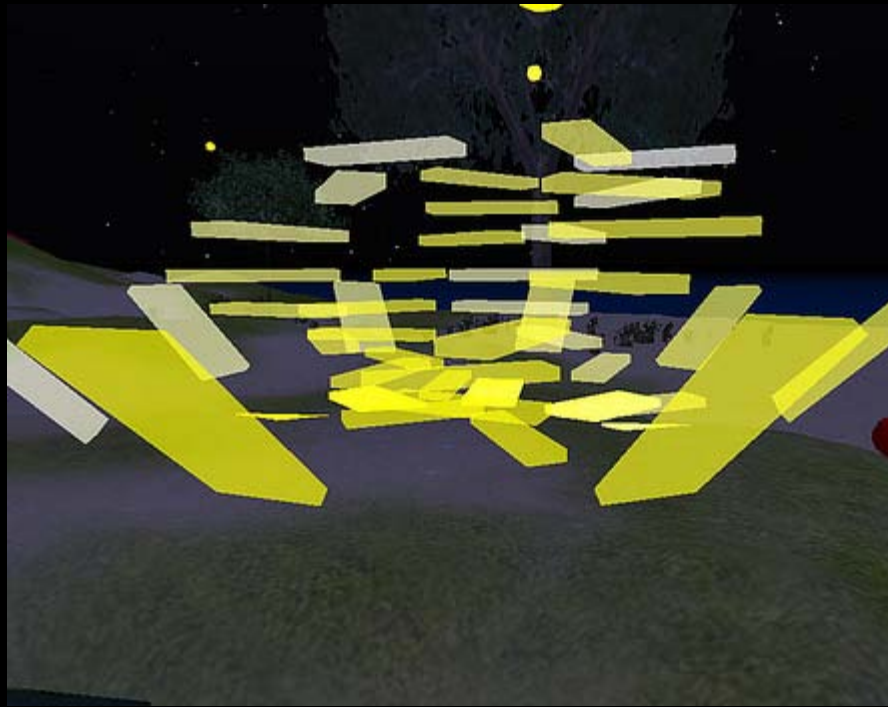

You can climb in the sculpture too.

Click on the red auto/manual switch ball to change modes. In auto mode, the yellow ball randomly drops balls.

It's fun to put it in auto mode then get inside the sculpture and alt-zoom.

The balls clean themselves up.

To finish, just walk away.
